
Artist to team up

Posted by gpetersz - 2008/06/26 22:51

Hello,

I am an artist. It is not easy to classify myself, because I worked as a pro, full-time freelancer, part-time freelancer and hobbyist as well. Moreover I am graduated as a programmer

I joined this forum to meet and find writers (you know, my english is not enough to publish books, and I am not sure if I could write one in my own language) who would like to have their books be published through POD providers or e-book sites, I mean who would like to self-publish their works.

I would like to team up with such writers and I would create their covers, inside illustrations (if any). About the financial part of this, I am not after paying work. I work as a programmer now for regular salary, so I welcome any kind of work I am interested in (as a hobby let's say). Naturally if you make money of it, then I would welcome a small portion of it (a healthy one, since I am aware that creating a cover for a 250 page books is a waaay less work than creating the book itself, so count around 5% or something like that, naturally if inside illustrations are done, or more illustrations needed it might change).

You can check my portfolio here: <http://www.easternraider.com/gallery/index.php?cat=11> (main site: <http://www.easternraider.com>).

So, I think I can be helpful for those who just start out, or would like to self-publish without any prior investment. Naturally I am open for any suggestions or questions.

Thanks,

Peter

=====