:(MY NAME IS JESSICA RODRIGUEZ AND THIS POEM LIKE A SHORT STORY IS A TRUE LIFE EVENT AND I THINK I SHOULD SHARE IT WITH THE WORLD ABOUT MY DRAMATIC EXPERINCES THAT ALMOST COST MY LIFE REPLY BACK TO THIS EMAIL AT YOUR CONVINCENCE AND I HAVE ALOT MORE SHORT STRORIES LIKE A POEM ABOUT RAPE AND HEARTBREAK AND CHEATING AND ALOT MORE!

Left to fend for myself. Being abandoned is a bitch! Anger raging I cut myself again and again. WHY!? Did she do this to me? It's my fault! Being abandoned at birth left to fend for myself. Many questions I ask! Away from my brothers, dad, and my whole family. Hiding in a corner afraid of being by myself in the world. Wearing all black, doing drugs, and running away confused about why I am here. Crying for my daddy and brother's every night. Getting taken to a visiting family every week. People think they can replace my family and make me the happiest person alive. Not going to happen I am miserable and confused. Christmas comes around I don't really care I'm not with my family why do I care. I hated Christmas so much. Making friends was okay but I didn't care all I wanted was my family. Going to psychotic check-ups to make sure I don't kill myself. Never a phone call from that bitch of a mother she didn't care she only cared about herself. She was only thirty minutes away and not a phone call nor visit. Dad away at a business trip on the other side of the world he wanted to take us away so bad but couldn't he was half way around the world it wasn't his fault it was my bitch of a mother's fault. My dad sent presents to me and my brothers on Christmas, birthday, and every other holiday. But, nothing from that bitch of a mother. Some questions still play in my head: Is this my fault? , Why did she do this? , and questions after questions my head will never stop asking. Fourteen years and I'm still traumatized it keeps playing in my head and will never stop.
